The Constitution.

VOL. VIII. ATLANTA, GA., TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 7, 1875. NO. 71.

Daily Constitution.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 6.

THE Ohio penitentiary has been polled with the following result: Hayes, 209; Allen, 7. Comment is unnecessary.

THE Lumpkin Independent reports the appearance of caterpillars on some of the river plantations of that county. The caterpillar flies have also been seen, but they come too late to work any damage to the crop in Stewart, except possibly to late bottom cotton.

A REPUBLICAN nominating convention in Cincinnati last week refused to pass a resolution declaring that the Geghan bill should be repealed. The mover of the resolution was compelled to withdraw it by the clamor of the convention. And yet the law is the pretext for a religious crusade by the Ohio republicans. Too thin.

THE seed-cotton rogues are at work in Decatur, and the article is beginning to freely arrive in bags, baskets, wallets, &c. Most of it, says the Bainbridge Democrat, is brought in after nightfall by freedmen who reap where they have not sown. The Democrat appeals to the authorities to protect the farmers of the county from such ravages.

THROUGH the blunder of a compositor we were made to say that the Washington depositors of the Freedman's bank were informed that no dividend would be declared about Christmas, when the opposite was what we meant to say. The commissioners say they will declare a dividend at that time. We hope they will. It will be sadly needed by the victims of the stupendous republican fraud next winter.

MR. C. C. OLNEY, of Savannah, has been appointed receiver of the Savannah and Charleston railroad, by Judge Harris, of the Brunswick circuit in the absence from the state of Judge Tompkins. He was appointed at the instance of the first mortgage bondholders, who have filed a bill in equity, and who want the affairs of the bankrupt company placed in a shape that will permit all liens and claims to be finally settled.

THE Lumpkin Independent does not cordially endorse the Columbus Times' proposition that politicians and lawyers should be denied seats in our agricultural conventions. The Independent does not think that such men "control everything because they are frequently heard from. No! the small sprinkle of attorneys and politicians who are heard at these meetings can neither shape the affairs of the agriculturists of the state, nor very materially affect the culture or price of cotton."

THE rice crop of Louisiana amounted to only 3,000 barrels in 1869, and from that sum it has steadily increased. The yield of this year will doubtless reach 200,000 barrels. One planter in the parishes of St. Bernard and Plaquemines has 2,500 acres in rice. The culture of this profitable crop will be extended next year to the Red river bottom lands. Georgia and the Carolinas are also making progress in the same field of industry; but there is still a wide margin to be overcome before the ante-bellum figures of these states will be reached. Last year they produced 72,000 casks against 180,000 to 210,000 casks before the war. A steady improvement from now on is looked for. Prices are higher than they were at this time last year, and small lots of the new crop are coming in.

First Bale from the Air-Line.

Messrs. C. H. Strong & Co. received to-day, the first bale of new cotton received at Flowery, on the Air-Line railroad, from Messrs. Hosch & Sloan. The cotton was grown on the plantation of Messrs. John and Reese Hosch, of Jackson county.

This bale is the first received here from the Air-Line railroad, and indicates that cotton in that region is maturing rapidly.

This bill will probably pass this council, but with a proviso that it be submitted to the National Council for approval.

The Code Duello.

ST. LOUIS, September 5.—Major John Edwards, of the St. Louis Times, and Colonel Emory S. Foster, editor of the Evening Journal, exchanged one harmless shot at Winnebago county, whither they had gone to settle a difficulty growing out of newspaper articles concerning the refusal of the people of Winnebago to hear Mr. Davis at their fair. Major Edwards demanded a second shot, but the seconds having decided that there should be but one unless demanded by both, and Colonel Foster considering that he had given sufficient satisfaction, declined, and the matter was settled without further difficulty.

The Floods.

OMAHA, NEB., September 5.—The water rose all day yesterday in the Boyer river and Logan creek, on the Chicago and Northwest railroad. The road bed in many places is three or four feet under water. No trains have passed over the road, but all passengers have been transferred over the damaged part of the road. The water also rose rapidly all day in Coon river and Walnut creek on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroads. The track is in many places 4 feet under water, and is badly damaged. The Pacific express, enroute west, was thrown into a ditch just west of Commerce, Iowa, twelve miles west of Des Moines, last night. John Hughes, brakeman, was instantly killed. Several persons were slightly injured.

The water in Walnut creek is three feet higher than ever known before.

Westward bound passengers are laid up at Commerce and Des Moines. The eastward bound train which left here last evening, is laid up at Stewart, Iowa.

The Turkey Insurrection.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 5.—The Servian Pasha in a telegraphic dispatch dated Mostor, to-day, states that many insurgents have submitted, and the agitation greatly allayed. The imperial troops have been traversing all parts of the country for several days without meeting any resistance. He believes order will be restored before the foreign consuls begin the work of mediation.

LONDON, September 4.—A dispatch from Constantinople states that information has been received from Belgrade by the Turkish government and by the foreign embassies which removes all apprehensions that Servia will by her conduct add to the complications of the Herzegovinian question. A solid agreement between the powers and the Servian government has been affected at Belgrade. Owing to the pressure brought to bear by the representatives of the former, Servia undertakes to restrain the party of action within her borders.

BELGRADE, September 5.—An insurrectionary movement is reported in the neighborhood of Gradschatz, Bosnia, instigated by bands of Servians arrested. It is stated that whole districts on southeastern frontier of Bosnia are rising.

THE GALLOWS.

Execution of Six Murderers on the Same Beam, at Fort Smith, Arkansas, Yesterday.

A Bad Lot of Desperate Men.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Sept. 3.—The six men hung to-day at Fort Smith were sentenced at the last term of the Federal court. There were eight sentenced at the same time. One was killed afterward while attempting to escape, and the sentence of the other was commuted to imprisonment for life.

The names of the men who were hung were James H. Moore (white), Daniel H. Evans (white), Samuel W. Fooy (quarter Cherokee), Smoker Mankiller (a full blood Cherokee, Edmond Campbell (colored), and John Whittington (white.)

The gallows was erected inside the walls of the old fort. The platform is fourteen by sixteen, and ten feet six inches above the ground. The trap door is sixteen feet long and three feet wide.

SMOKER MANKILLER.

Smoker Mankiller, the full-blood, was but 18 years old. He lived in Flint district, Cherokee Nation. He could read and write in his own language, but could not speak English. He had a wife and child. On the 1st of September, 1874, he murdered a white man named William Sharp. He stoutly asserted his innocence in a written statement. He charged the witnesses who testified against him with perjury. He has very black hair, was stout built, with a low forehead, and stared his fate with the usual indifference of the Indian. A few days since he professed religion and joined the Presbyterian church.

JAMES M. MOORE.

James H. Moore was 27 years old, tall and fine looking, bold and daring. He was a native of Johnston county, Missouri, but removed to Texas when a child, where he grew up on the frontier. As a murderer, highwayman and horse thief, his equal could hardly be found. He was connected with a band of outlaws in the Indian country, stealing some horses in Washington county, in this state, in connection with a confederate. They were followed and overtaken, when the thieves fired upon the posse, killing one and wounding another. They escaped, but afterwards overtaken, and Moore's partner was killed while attempting to escape. Moore was afterwards captured, lodged in jail, tried, and sentenced to be hung. When captured he boasted that he had killed eight white men, and Indians and negroes too numerous to mention. He claimed to be the best shot in the west. He had a wife and one child living in Texas. As a desperado and outlaw, he was the best representative of the lot. He was baptized into the Roman Catholic faith last Sunday.

SAMUEL W. FOOY.

Samuel W. Fooy, a quarter blood Cherokee, was a native of Fort Smith, 28 years old, well educated. He was married and had three children. His family reside near Webber's Falls. In July, 1872, he murdered a young man named John E. Naff, near Tahlequah, for $300. Knowing Naff had the money, he followed him along the road he was traveling, shot him through the head, and threw the body over a bluff, where it was afterwards discovered by a hunter. Fooy confessed the crime.

DANIEL H. EVANS.

Daniel H. Evans was a handsome young man of twenty, and a native of Tennessee. He had respectable connections in Missouri, Tennessee and Texas. He murdered a man named Seabolt, in November last, near Eufaula, Creek nation. The two were riding along the road together, when Evans shot his companion, hid his body, took his horse and money, and proceeded on his journey. The body was discovered, and Evans was arrested three days after, while riding the murdered man's horse and wearing his clothes. Evans admitted that he associated with outlaws, and in connection with two others, robbed a wealthy man in the Creek Nation, in 1873, of $32,000; $25,000 of this money, he says, is buried in Basque county, Texas. He stuck a pine stick in this victim's flesh, and set it on fire, to compel him to tell where his money was. It would be hard to find one of his age so steeped in crime.

After his sentence had been pronounced by the judge, he smilingly rose and thanked the court for the courtesy shown him. He embraced the Catholic faith.

WILLIAM J. WHITTINGTON.

Wm. J. Whittington was a native of Georgia, Taylor county. He was thirty years old, and had a wife and three children, who now live in the Chickasaw nation.

A more desperate looking man could hardly be pictured. His age was about thirty years. He was six feet in height, straight as an Indian and built like an athlete. A cold, lusterless eye peered from under a shaggy brow, but occasionally shot out glances that showed the diabolical spirit within. He was, every inch, a type of the frontier desperado—savage, relentless and malignant. He scarcely looked at the judge during the delivery of the remarkable address, but occasionally turned his eyes upon the audience behind, scowling upon them, and flashing defiance. He lived in poverty with a wife and two children, near the Red river, in Pickens county, Chickasaw Nation, and was found guilty of a murder committed in that vicinity on Monday, February 8, 1875. The evidence adduced at the trial showed that on that day Whittington and John J. Turner, a neighbor, started across the river. On the afternoon of the same day, while returning, Whittington dropped behind, and suddenly coming up with Turner, hit him a tremendous blow upon the head with a club, knocking him senseless from his horse. Dismounting he coolly proceeded to cut his throat from ear to ear, and to rob the body, taking therefrom one hundred and five dollars in cash. Suddenly Turner's young son, a youth 18 years of age, came upon the scene, like an apparition. Realizing the horrible situation, he drew his revolver and began to fire upon his father's assassin. Whittington, terror-stricken, mounted his horse and fled, with young Turner in hot pursuit. After a chase of four miles the lad's horse gave out and fell by the roadside. But he had raised the alarm, and Whittington was captured by citizens just after he had crossed the river. A knife, red with gore, and recognized as belonging to Whittington, was found near Turner's body, and Turner's money was found on the prisoner's body after the capture. There was not a shadow of doubt as to his guilt, the evidence being overwhelming. He attributed his troubles to whisky. He was penitent and resigned. He joined the Methodist church.

EDMOND CAMPBELL

Edmond Campbell, the colored boy, was aged 20. He was a native of the Choctaw nation. He, in connection with two others, killed Lawson Ross and Maria McKenna, on the 13th of February, 1875. Some trouble arose between the parties at a prayer-meeting. The three went to the house of Ross and the women, and shot them. Edmond Campbell and Frank Butler were both sentenced to be hung. Frank made an attempt to escape some time since, and was shot and killed. The other party connected with the murder was sent to the penitentiary, and Edmond forfeited his life to-day for the crime. He professed religion and joined the Presbyterian church.

THE GALLOWS.

All six of the parties were launched into eternity at the same time. Marshal Fagan and his deputies superintended the execution. The gallowses were elected close up and in front of an old pentagon-shaped building. Just above the trap was a strong rope beam, framed on posts, and firmly braced. The six men were placed in line, standing side by side.

LAST WORDS OF THE CONDEMNED.

A dispatch, by courier, from Fort Smith to Altus, forty miles distant, the nearest telegraph station, states that the hanging of the six men at that place today passed off quietly. The condemned men were brought out at half-past nine o'clock, and ascended the scaffold at 10. All showed nerve, and refused to make any confession. Moore said he was a game man, and would die game. Fooy said he was as anxious to go as the spectators were there to see him go. Whittington said nothing. Evans said nothing. Campbell and Mankiller said they were innocent.

A DESPERADO KILLED.

FORT SMITH, ARK., via Muscogee, I. T., Sept. 3.—Martin Haines, who was tried for murder at the last term of the United States court, and acquitted for want of sufficient proof to convict, confessed after his release that the he killed the man. Haines is a desperado of the worst type, and he has at last met his just deserts for his crimes, although in an unlawful manner. Last night while engaged in a drunken row in a house of ill-fame, he was fatally stabbed in ten different places, with a knife in the hands of Jim Baily. Bailey has been arrested, and may bid adieu to his companions hung to-day from a murderer's cell.

JUDGES AND JURIES.

The Powers of Superior Court Judges and Grand Juries.

The Injustice of "Pitching into" Judges without Investigation.

Several of our cotemporaries in the State have indulged in severe strictures upon Judge C. D. McCutchen, of the Cherokee circuit, based on a statement made concerning the presentments of the Grand Jury of Bartow Superior Court. Say they: "the grand jurors saw fit to investigate, as they have a perfect right to do in every county of the state, the workings and expenses of the superior court. "With the most profound consideration and respect," the jurors begged leave to call the attention of the presiding judge to the facts which they found to exist, and to request him to so alter and amend the rules and practice of his court as to facilitate the dispatch of business by not allowing attorneys to consume so much time in wrangling over business and in useless and irrelevant discussions and digressions. They found that while the entire state tax collected from the county amounted to only thirty thousand dollars, the county tax was used in paying the expenses of two sessions of the superior court. And they begged, "with all due respect to the honorable" court, bar and officers of court, that their recommendations be complied with. So far from doing this, the judge actually refused to allow these statements and recommendations to remain in the presentments, and ordered them to be stricken out before being placed upon the minutes or published in the county paper. In our opinion this action of the judge was a palpable violation of the privileges of a grand jury and a gross outrage upon the rights of the citizens of Bartow county. His conduct should be called to the attention of the legislature at its session next January, and that body should give it a thorough investigation. Grand juries have rights which even a judge of the superior court cannot interfere with or deny their exercise."

The Constitution of the State and the Code fully defines the powers of Judges of Superior Courts, and fully expounded in the following decisions of the Supreme Court: 14th Ga., 323, 349; 24th Ga., 391; 26th Ga., 388; 29th Ga., 212; 34th Ga., 166; 36th Ga., 87, 475; 38th Ga., 608; 41st Ga., 589; 43d Ga., 360; 44th Ga., 133; 45th Ga., 483. The duties of Grand Jurors are clearly specified. Section 3915 of the Code provides that they shall take an oath to "diligently enquire and true presentments make of matters given you in charge or shall come to your knowledge."

Section 3917 specifies that it is their "duty as jurors to make presentments of all violations of law known to have been committed at any previous time not barred by statute."

Section 3920 empowers them to inspect and examine the books and papers of county officers, and present those guilty of negligence of duty, while section 3921 authorizes them to appoint citizens to make the inspection.

Section 3924 requires them to examine the list of voters and present all who have voted illegally.

Section 3943 gives them power to recommend an extra tax for jurors.

In arriving also at their duty it is necessary to refer to section 3249 which requires the judge to give them in a special charge, the laws against gaming, carrying concealed weapons, furnishing negroes poisonous drugs, requiring railroads to furnish water and lights, against forestalling, regrating and engrossing, and sections 1436, 4489 4490 and 4491 of the penal code.

The judge has nothing to do with taxes, nor has he a right to hear a petition.

It is made the duty of Ordinaries to lay before the Grand Jury a statement of the financial condition of the county and the amount of tax required to discharge the liabilities of the county. Should the Grand Jury fail to recommend the tax sections 510 and 511 of the Code states that the Ordinary may levy the tax. The Judge then has no power or voice in the matter.

The grand jury has nothing to do with the rules of practice of court, and a judge by himself can neither make or alter them, much less violate them. Section 3246 of the Code provides that the judges of the superior courts of the state shall convene at the seat of government once a year at such time as they or a majority of them may appoint for the purpose of establishing uniform rules of practice, and all other rules are declared void. They can only be repealed or amended in this way. Although they may establish rules, if the rules conflict with the Constitution they are null. The cases cited in 19th Ga., 220; 30th Ga., 938th and 33d Ga., 215, fully sustains this. Hence any action of the judge restricting counsel in the argument of his client's case would be unconstitutional and void, did he possess the right to amend the rules of practice at his option. The Supreme Court decided this point in 49th Ga., 255 in a case coming up from Cobb county.

Taking the case from Bartow as presented by the friends of the Grand Jury even, there is not the shadow of ground for denouncing Judge McCutchen. The Judge is made by law the controlling power in the court and not the Grand Jury. The reason is plain. Taken from the body politic and from various pursuits, it is presumed that they have no correct idea of the nature, magnitude and extent of the law, or what is necessary to its proper administration. The Judge is presumed to be qualified for his position and to be fully conversant with law, its operations and what is necessary. As liberty and civilization expands law becomes more and more extensive and complicated.

A free and enlightened country is governed by fixed rules of law and precedents contained in books. It is only after one has spent half a life time in the study of the law that he begins to realize its magnitude and complexity and to find that it is too much for any human memory to retain. Notwithstanding the multiplicity of books upon the subject of law, cases arise every day for which no precise precedent can be found and which have to be solved upon principle, or by remote analogous adjudicated cases. Hence it is that the highest judicial tribunals in this country and Europe listen patiently and attentively to counsel in their argument. To limit the counsel in his argument is no restriction upon his right, but upon that of his client. This is a thrust at the most vital and esential bulwark of human liberty. The constitution wisely leaves this matter in the hands of the client and his counsel.

We object to a change being made, and the matter left in the hands of either the Judge or Grand Jury, because it is a retrograde movement, and dangerous to human liberty. The Judge executes the law as he finds it, and not according to the caprice of his will. As well limit the number of witnesses and the time for the jury to be out, as the argument of the counsel.

The expenses paid out for holding courts goes back into the pockets of jurors, bailiffs, clerks, sheriffs, etc. The great drain upon the county is not so much the expenses as the time its keeps jurors, witnesses and parties litigant from actual labor.

The expenses of courts may be reduced by dispatching business, more than by simply lopping off a bailiff. The Ordinary of Fulton county credits the reduction of taxes in this county to the success of Judge Hopkins in expediting business. He discharges his grand juries as soon as the business will permit and hears motions when there are no juries. The number of bailiffs in Fulton county is limited to six by act of the legislature. The sheriff usually designates the number. The expeditious disposition of cases is advanced by having a sufficient number. We have written this much, because we believe the matter is misunderstood. Judge McCutchen is one of the best judges in the State, and we believe is trying to do his duty. The truth is, we expect, that Bartow being a large, wealthy and populous county, has dockets groaning under the accumulation of cases for ten or fifteen years past. With the dockets cleared of these, which appear to be the effort of Judge McCutchen, we see no reason why the Grand Jury and Ordinary or Board of County Commissioners, cannot reduce the taxes. The Grand Jury is to be complimented for working to that end with the powers that control the subject.

Important to Parents and Guardians

MOUNT DE CHANTAL

Academy of the Visitation, Near Wheeling, W. Virginia.

PARENTS in quest of a first class school for their daughters, will do well to investigate the claims of this celebrated Academy. For thoroughness in every department of female education, Mt. de Chantal ranks pre-eminently high. Great attention is given to perfect the pupils in writing and speaking French with fluency. For those sufficiently advanced, it is the language of their recreation hours. The purity of accent and correctness of pronunciation acquired in this Institution has long been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for superiority in music is so widespread as to have made this Academy almost a national one. One feature, in particular, that should recommend Mt. de Chantal to the sensible parent, is the influence exercised to form the pupils to views and habits of economy, and to render them really practical and useful women of society in after years. Simplicity of dress is enforced by rule.

These facts, united to the exceedingly moderate rates of board and tuition ($200 per annum), will, we trust, secure to this school as large and desirable a patronage in the future as it has enjoyed in the past.

For further particulars, apply for a prospectus to the Directress of Mount de Chantal Academy of the Visitation, near Wheeling, West Virginia.

ATLANTA:

TUESDAY MORNING. SEPTEMBER 7.

MR. JOHN J. GEGHAN has been re nominated to represent Cincinnati in the Ohio legislature.

THE New York Times hails King Steinberger, and the Tribune King Grant. Under which king, oh, Samoans?

THERE is a little limestone shaft in Mr. Williams' vineyard, marking the spot where Gen. John H. Morgan fell.—Greeneville Intelligencer.

THE probable candidates for the governorship of Illinois next year, will be William R. Morrison, democrat, and Shelby M. Cullom, republican.

AN east Tennesseean, lately returned from Nashville, says the interior of the state capitol has the odor of a Pennsylvania Dutch granary.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S cattle have the foot and mouth disease. That seems to be what ails Morton; his feet are useless, and his mouth is a positive damage to him.—Worcester Press.

LOUISIANA'S last orange crop amounted to 16,250,000, and realized a net profit of $810,000. The custom there is to sell the fruit on the trees at ten dollars a thousand, and let the shipper do the picking.

IT must make the radicals feel mournful to think how Attorney-General Williams could have utilized the Georgia negro insurrection, and turned it into a first-class card for the administration party.

AN advertisement in the Chicago Tribune for a copyist at $6 per week, brought 516 applications. Another advertisement for a carpenter at $1.75 per day, received 391 answers. It is estimated that 20,000 people are out of employment in Chicago.

THE California election pans out thirty thousand democratic plurality. Gorham and Sargent, the jobbers of the administration, played a very losing game, and the former gentleman has the opportunity he coveted, for he remarked some time since that "if the republican party had to die he was determined to assist at the obsequies."

THE Reformed Episcopal church is rapidly gaining ground among the negroes of the south. In South Carolina six congregations have been organized, all in a small territory, having an aggregate of 539 members. These churches are all under the charge of the Rev. P. F. Stevens, who left two white parishes for the purpose.

THE Ohio radicals thought they had discovered in Henry O'Connor, of Iowa, a bull of Bashan, who could outroar Bill Allen, and so they brought him to Ohio. The Honorable Henry made his first appearance at Newmarket, in a state of exalted inebriation. Next night he brought up in the station house at Dennison, and on Saturday he was removed from the state, his malady having reached the stage of snakes.

GEN. SHARPE was permitted to carry the Sartoris baby on board the vessel awaiting the Sartorises on Saturday. Childs was also present and evinced for the first time in his life a jealous disposition. He whispered to the president, for instance, that Sharpe was putting on a good many airs, and in his opinion didn't amount to much any how. Childs is not pronounced in his dislikes, however, and when the time comes we have no doubt he will take pleasure in writing one of his sweetest poems on Sharpe's death.

WE recently received a communication asking for the publication of the names of certain European monarchs. Here they are and his salaries too: Alexander II., $9,152,000, or $25,000 a day. Abdul Aziz, $9,000,000, or $18,000 a day. Francis Joseph, $4,000,000, or $10,050 a day. Fred. William II., $3,000,000, or $8,210 a day. Victor Emanuel, $2,400,000, or $6,840 a day. Victoria, $2,200,000, or $6 270 a day. Leopold, $600,000, or $1,643 a day. In addition to these salaries, each of these individuals is furnished with a dozen or more first class houses to live in without any charge of rent.

MR. BLANTON DUNCAN gives, in the Louisville Commercial, an interesting account of the confederate currency. He says the total issue never reached $350,000,000, and its depreciation was less than is popularly believed. He says the paper dollar was worth 85 cents in gold in November, 1861; 60 cents in May, 1862; 45 or 50 cents in November, 1862; 16 cents in July, 1863; 8 cents in November, 1863; five cents in May, 1864, from which period to the termination of the war, it fluctuated, going up once to 6 cents, and only failing entirely as a medium in the last two months prior to the capitulations, when every one saw that defeat was inevitable.

GENERAL FROSSARD is dead. Frossard was born in 1807, was educated at the military school of Metz, and entered the army in 1827. He fought in the Belgian campaign of 1831-2, served in Algeria in 1833, and returned to Paris in 1846 with the rank of major. In the Crimean war he was chief engineer of the army. He fought in Italy in 1859, with the rank of general, and at the close of the war was made grand officer of the Legion of Honor, and was appointed governor of the prince imperial. He served in the Franco-Prussian war, was made prisoner and detained until the close of that conflict. In 1870 he published a vindication of his latter career in two volumes.

"WELL, bub," replied Bijah, as he finished hanging up the broom, "this question bothers many besides you, though it's clear enough to me. You see that twenty-five cent scrip, don't you?" The boy remarked that he did, and Bijah placed it on the window-sill, weighted it down with a peach-stone, and continued: "That bit of paper is marked '25 cents,' but is it 25 cents? Is it anything more than a piece of paper?" "I dunno," solemnly replied the boy. "Has that bit of paper any real value beyond its being a promise to pay?" demanded Bijah. "What paper?" "That 'ere twenty-five ——." He stopped there. Some one had sneaked up the alley and slyly stolen both scrip and peach-stone. "Never mind," condoled the boy, "it hadn't any intrinsic value." "It hadn't, eh?" growled the old janitor; "I just want to catch the wolf who absorbed it!"—[Detroit Free Press.

GOVERNOR-ELECT IRWIN, of California, is a native of Butler county, Ohio. He went to the Golden State in 1852, and in 1861 was elected a member of the lower house of the legislature. In 1869 he was elected to the senate, and re-elected in 1873, being president of the senate pro tem under Governor Booth. He was elected to the senate again, and became acting lieutenant-governor. He is now filling that office. From 1866 up to March last he adorned the editorial chair of the Yreka Union, and there had an excellent experience for the new position to which he has been called.

THE holders of North Carolina bonds propose to send a delegation to attend the constitutional convention. This delegation is to confer with the members of the convention upon the subject of procuring the introduction of a clause in the new constitution by which the manner and the time of payment of the state bonds may be settled. The new consols now issued, it is stated, amount to about $4,500,000, which draw only two per cent. semi-annually. Nearly all the bonds are held by persons residing in New York.

THE memory of ex-President Johnson will be honored at Nashville on the second day of October by services as imposing as those which were held after the death of Jackson or Polk. Ex-Senator Fowler will deliver the address. Every section of Tennessee will doubtless be represented on the interesting occasion.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE GREAT OKEFINOKEE SWAMP.

For six months past we have been considering a movement for the exploration of the great Okefinokee swamp, the mammoth mystery of Georgia. The interests of science, as well as the progress of the state, loudly call for a thorough knowledge of this great body of land and water on our southern border. On account of the large expense necessary, and other militating causes, we have not found it convenient till the present to prepare for the execution of the enterprise. We now announce to our readers, and the people of Georgia, that we are fitting up an expedition for a complete and thorough exploration of Okefinokee. The full details of the plan and expedition will be published soon, and in a few days we shall commence a series of letters descriptive of a preliminary expedition preparatory to the main movement we now announce.

THE LABORER AND HIS HIRE.

Some days ago, it will be remembered, we had several articles in our local columns detailing the sufferings and troubles of the laboring people of Atlanta, as consequences of the prices paid for labor. In one of these articles we used this language:

"The workingmen can find a remedy for it, and, if pushed to the wall, will do so, but it were better for all parties that a fair compromise, which will give his hire in a living sum to the worthy laborer, should be made."

This paragraph acted as a violent irritant upon the Columbus Times, which attacked us by charging "communism" upon us. And the Washington Gazette, taking its cue from the Times, seized its pot and brush and cross-marked us all over. We are sorry for our two brothers, and freely urge them to keep their garments on, notwithstanding the hot weather.

The Gazette spins out a column and three quarters of the silliest sort of fol-de-rol. If platitudes were loaves of bread and thirty "sticks" of long meter editorial made a cord of fire wood, then the Gazette would be the greatest of philanthropists, and satisfy the labor question in short order. But they are not, and the Gazette is but another Thomas Gradgrind. When it says that THE CONSTITUTION "encourages and incites the working class to deeds of blood and crimes and all manner of evil," it is stupidly ignorant.

When it applies the argument "tu quoque," it places its own weakness in contrast with our strength, in the positions taken, because it ignorantly fails to state the facts as they are, unless the Gazette knows more about our affairs than we do ourselves. The remedy for the labor troubles here, as set forth by the Gazette, is one of those charming propositions which sound elegantly coming from a theorist, who views the question after a hearty dinner through the roseate medium of his post-prandial wine. How kind it is in the Gazette to tell two or three thousand Atlanta families, whose daily income will not decently supply their actual daily wants, to come down into the country and go to farming! Of course all these families have free annual passes on the railroads, and a "stocking" plethoric with scrip and collaterals to support a farm establishment. We comply with the Gazette's request to give these suffering families information of this Utopian existence. And, to further please the Gazette, we will undertake to record the names of all who are ready to accept the following proposition, which the Gazette sets forth, we presume, with full authority:

"If any wish to come and have not means to move, there are plenty of men in this county who will see to it that they are moved and settled comfortably on lands here which will make them ample returns for the labor bestowed upon them, and will reward them most fully for every drop of sweat poured out in their cultivation."

We regret that the Gazette has so little of real good to utter in this important matter; we know that it does not maliciously garble and misrepresent our position, and that its freedom from the gnawings of hunger, from the rigors of the weather, from the pleadings of hungry eyes and shrunk limbs in the family, have misled its judgment and caused it to make this silly exhibition of itself.

The Columbus Times, on the other hand, has nothing to say in favor of the laboring men, and of course doesn't feel the slightest interest in the efforts to bring convict labor into the walks of honest industry, but its writer confesses that he is gradually enlarging his powers of comprehension, and this makes him proud and ambitious. Under these incitives, he is out on a hunt for inconsistencies in the conduct of his neighbors. He is at length happy over his assumed success with THE CONSTITUTION, but unfortunately for him his zeal has carried him beyond his point, for he proves that we did not advise communism by noting the prompt denunciation which we pronounced upon an outcropping of the spirit among some foolish, drunken negroes. The Times resents our belief that we shot an arrow into a sore spot of its body, but "it is the hit bird that flutters," and why should the Times flutter so violently? The Times writer is unskillful, too, in his defense, and exposes the subtle link which connects him with the "crippled bovine" that mistook our signal flag for the "red banner" of communism, and raged so terribly in consequence. From our neighbor's antics in imitation it is indeed fortunate that the material in the Times office is not made of china-ware.

In concluding the matter so far as we are concerned, we need only refer again to the fact that THE CONSTITUTION has never been attracted to the extremes of either communism or the aristocracy of capital. It has labored to see justice done to all men, and if it utters the self-evident truth that there are more ways than one to regulate temporary troubles among a class of the community, we see in that no reason for its falling under the condemnation of any good man's opinion.

WAGONS.

At a low estimate, Georgia pays $500,000 annually for imported wagons, which could be more cheaply made at home, and this large sum saved to our people. Extensive factories in the western and northwestern states have grown rich in supplying us with road and farm wagons, at a less price than our own small manufacturers can do.

Let us enquire why it is, and see if we cannot find a remedy. The western and northwestern manufacturer labors under serious disadvantages in supplying us, but he has overcome them by his enterprise. He labors under the great disadvantage of a scarcity of timber suitable for his purpose, or rather an utter want of it. To supply this want he sends to Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia for his supplies of the material which enters so largely into the construction of his goods, pays freight on the raw material from five to six hundred miles, manufactures it, pays transportation on it back again to the south in shape of wagons, and grows rich by the operation. To make him to do this he employs all the labor-saving machinery in his factory that can be used to advantage, and so much of it, and so large a force of operatives as to enable him to divide and sub-divide their labor until each employee becomes as it were a mere machine. By this division and sub-division of labor he is enabled to employ unskilled labor, because the laborer does but one thing over and over until he becomes an expert in that one thing. Having arrived at this point, the manufacturer then employs him by the piece, which is advantageous to both the proprietor and operative. This enables the manufacturer not only to largely reduce the cost of the article, but it enables him to arrive at its exact cost.

It is thus that he is enabled to draw his supplies of timber from the southern states, transport it hundreds of miles to his factory, manufacture and return it to us at a less price than our own wagon makers can furnish the same article. Our manufacturers do not employ labor-saving machinery, nor do they divide and sub-divide their labor to any considerable extent. Their operations are primitive, so to speak, the result of which is an inability on their part to successfully compete with the northern manufacturer; and thus it is that we continue to contribute hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to Michigan, Wisconsin and other northern states.

The remedy for this is the creation of stock companies with sufficient capital to command all, and even more advantages than the northern manufacturer can do. We have the timber at hand, we have cheaper labor, a better climate for manufacturing, and an unlimited market at our door for all we can produce. In a word, we can easily command much greater advantages than the manufacturers in distant states who are now supplying us. We have but to press these advantages into our service, and we can supply our own wants. It can be mathematically demonstrated that a wagon factory at this point, upon an extensive scale, can be made to pay at least 30 per cent. upon the investment. We have waited for the wagon long enough. Who will move in this matter?

SEVERAL DAYS.

We are compelled to wait for some answers from correspondents in neighboring towns to complete our list, and from this cause, as well as from our inability to get together in time the great mass of advertisements for the trade issue, it will not be published for several days yet. We beg our business friends to send us their advertisements at once.

As the returns come in the democratic victory in California becomes the more colossal in its proportions. Oregon and now California have felt the tidal wave that swept over the eastern states. The victory was not unexpected; our readers will bear witness that we predicted it, but no one looked for so great a success. The independent party is annihilated, and Grantism rendered powerless for further evil in that state. The chairman of the California state committee sent this dispatch to the Ohio democratic state committee:

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2—California wheels in line for the centennial fight. The democrats have swept the state. Governor and all state officers, congressmen and legislature, elected by immense majorities.

The San Francisco Call rushes frantically to the confessional and says:

Two years ago there was a prospect that the independents would become a national organization; now there is none. Nothing in the future is more certain than that the next presidential contest will be fought between democrats and republicans. Senator Booth may call himself an independent, but, after all, he is only an independent voter, and when political questions come up the senator will be a democrat or a republican, as the case may be.

Elsewhere, in alluding to the election, the same paper adds oracularly, "This is the first opportunity California has had to speak on the question of the Louisiana difficulties. The verdict is against the administration, while it will be in order now to give the cold shoulder to Senator Booth."

One of the new congressmen, Mr. Luttrell, is an east Tennessee boy, having been born in Knox county, where he has many relatives.

IN the reports of the representatives of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of the United States, which held its annual session in this city in September last, to their respective state grand bodies, the reception which greeted them here is mentioned in the most flattering terms. As a specimen, we reproduce the following from the report of Grand Representatives Hickok and Stokes to the grand encampment of Pennsylvania.

The annual session of the grand lodge of the United States was held, pursuant to adjournment, at Atlanta, the capital city of Georgia

The members, although they had been led to anticipate that many attentions would be paid them as the representatives of a wide spread and honorable order, were not prepared for the overwhelming kindness which greeted them.

We have not the power, even would time permit, to depict to you the extent or the cordiality of the demonstrations of respect and good will which seemed to spring spontaneous on every hand.

It will be enough to say that not only the brotherhood of Atlanta and of Georgia, but also the state and city authorities, the board of trade, the Knights Templar, the supreme court and the press, as well as individual citizens, seemed to vie with each other to do honor to our order, and to extend to its representatives unbounded welcome.

Most auspicious, it is to be hoped, will be the consequences of the annual session, not only in Georgia and the south, as well as at large, but also on the general weal of our common country, aiding in breaking down and obliterating sectional prejudice and infusing into the minds and hearts of our fellow citizens of every portion of our land the leaven of our order's love.

OUR mammoth trade issue will certainly be out in a day or two, and we beg all those having space engaged to send their advertisements in to-day. This issue is more extensively read than any other of the year.

THE recent preliminary expedition into Okefenokee swamp discovered new islands, killed alligators by the wholesale and slew several bears and a number of deer.

GOV. CHAMBERLAIN, of South Carolina, says he cannot replace the money of the state that was lost in the failure of Solomon's bank. That money is needed to pay to the interest on the new consols. The total amount thus far issued of the latter is $3,100,000. When the whole of the old debt is funded in these consols the debt of the state will not exceed $5,800,000—the rest will then be legally repudiated.

Cotton Tax Suspended.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF GEORGIA, ATLANTA, GEORGIA, September 6, 1875.

To Hon. Wm. L. Goldsmith, Comptroller General:

Whereas, A petition has been presented to me by a number of the citizens of Morgan county, representing that the tax receiver of said county has included in the digest of taxes returned by him for the year 1875, as taxable, all cotton held by farmers and producers on the first day of April last, and has required said farmers and producers to return the same as taxable; said petition praying that an order be granted by this department suspending the collection of said tax until the next meeting of the general assembly; and,

Whereas, In the opinion of many persons, it was not the intention of the legislature in enacting the act of 1875, to impose a tax upon products in the hands of the producers thereof; and it being a matter of the first importance to producers that the intention of the legislature in this regard should be clearly understood, and that they should not be unreasonably limited as to the time within which they may dispose of their products, and thus be placed to that extent within the power of speculators; and

Whereas, The public interest can suffer no injury by granting the prayer of said petitioners; it is therefore Ordered, That the comptroller instruct the several tax collectors of this state to suspend the collection of the tax upon cotton and other products in the hands of farmers and producers on the first day of April last, until the next meeting of the general assembly of this state.

Negro Insurrection in Mississippi.

VICKSBURG, September 6.—An extra edition of the Herald gives the following account of the disturbance at Clinton:

The origin and particulars of the riot at Clinton on Saturday evening have been variously stated. After hearing all the statements, we think the following about correct:

There is a law prohibiting the sale of liquor in Clinton. Some young men from Raymond brought a bottle with them, and while the speaking was going on, Martin Sively, and some of his friends went off a short distance to take a drink. The colored marshal for the occasion approached them and forbade their drinking. This order was not regarded, and when the marshal attempted to take the bottle out of Sively's hand, Sively struck him over the head with it. Senator Caldwell, colored, started to settle the difficulty, and was followed by some twenty negroes, whom he ordered back, but about one hundred more came rushing on. Some one fired a shot, which was followed by general firing and a stampede. Sively fired all the barrels of his pistol, and the negroes then demanded his surrender. He surrendered and gave up his pistol, after which he was shot and his brains knocked out. He was then robbed of his clothing, and a finger was cut off in order to get his ring. The infuriated mob found Charles Chilton in his yard, and shot and killed him in the presence of his family. Frank Thomasson, a promising young lawyer, was shot from his horse a mile and a half from the scene of the conflict, and after falling the savages drove their knives into his body in many places. John Neal was fatally shot in the left lung in the town, and Waddy Rice seriously in the hand. Four negroes were found on the field, and two who were mortally wounded. Six negroes have been found dead about Clinton, since the white men of Clinton were organized at once for self protection, under Col. Harding, and telegrams were sent here for assistance, fifteen minutes after the receipt of the first dispatch, 150 men were ready to march and took a special train, which reached Clinton at 7 o'clock. About 10 o'clock more re-inforcements came from Jackson roads, and were picketed during the night, but all danger being apparently over, most of the citizens returned to their homes in Vicksburg, leaving 30 men on guard under Capt. W. H. Anderson. Capt. Anderson returned with the men this morning and reports all quiet at Clinton and Edwards. The train from Jackson on Saturday night with re-inforcements for Clinton was fired into from the side of the road and obstructions were placed on the track.

Corrupt Politicians Convicted.

POTTSVILLE, PA., September 6.—There is excitement here in political circles over the sentence of the commissioners of Schuylkill county, Patrick Conroy, Valentine Benker and Moses Hine, convicted of neglect and corruption in the discharge of their official duties. The sentence of each is two years imprisonment and $1,000 fine, and the embezzled funds to be returned to the county. They were immediately taken from the court house to prison.

The Alabama Convention.

MONTGOMERY, September 6.—The Alabama constitutional convention met to-day. Gen. L. P. Walker, first secretary of war of the confederate states, was chosen president by acclamation, republicans and democrats all voting for him. His father was president of the convention which adopted the constitution in 1819, under which Alabama was admitted into the union. On taking the chair to-day, he said: Gentlemen of the convention, I beg you to accept my sincere thanks for the distinguished honor you have conferred on me in electing me to preside over your deliberations.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 6.—A dispatch received at the treasury department to-day, from Dr. Linderman, director of the mint, reports that he left San Francisco yesterday morning for Washington. He will stop at Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis and Cincinnati, to determine upon a site for a new United States mint, to be located in the Mississippi valley in accordance with the provisions of the act of congress passed at the last session.

The secretary of the treasury and the attorney-general have returned.

The steamer Plymouth from the mouth of the Rio Grande has arrived at Port Royal, and is ordered to proceed to Norfolk.

Mail service on the Ohio river, between Louisville and Cincinnati by mail boats, ceases September 15th.

The treasury department has advice of the arrival of a vessel in Delaware Bay, from San Domingo, with yellow fever on board.

The treasury department has received applications for the transfer of a million dollars of gold from New York to San Francisco. The applications are from some ten persons who need gold for commercial purposes. The treasurer can not make the transfer to-day, but hopes to be able to send half a million to-morrow.

The coinage of silver has been stopped, and the coinage of gold resumed at the San Francisco mint.

The board of engineers examining Captain Eads plans for improving the mouth of the Mississippi, continues its sessions in New York. The discussion of the location of the jetties at the South Pass was continued, and slight modifications of the plan for locating the east jetty were recommended, and a slight alteration in its curvature so as to render the action of the current more effective, and secure greater solidity. It was also recommended that the jetty which is on the windward side should overlap the end of the west jetty at least 300 feet. It was further decided that 1,000 feet was the most desirable distance to leave between the artificial walls, by which it is proposed to deepen the channel. The length of the east jetty will be about 12,750 feet. Very little now remains to be acted upon, and it is expected the board will close its session on Tuesday.

Is It any Wonder?

In view of the immense amount of saleratus and adulterated baking powders used by the masses of people in food, is it any wonder that there are diseased gums, decayed teeth, weak and useless muscles, and disordered digestion? See to it that you escape these evils by using Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, the only kind made by a physician, with special reference to its healthfulness, and indorsed as such by thousands who have used it for years. We do not hesitate to indorse it as the best in the market, and also Dr. Price's True Flavoring Extracts, Orange, Lemon, etc. sep4—dsat-sun-tues&thur&wlt

-Mr. Martin H. Dooly was not thrown at in the railroad car. The person throwing the rock could not see him.

—The board of education elected Miss Bunnie Love from the 8th to the 7th grade Marietta school, in place of Miss Milledge, resigned. Miss Dodson was put in Miss Love's place, and Miss Browning to the eighth grade Walker street school.

—The hot dusty weather in the cities is filling up New Holland Springs hotel again. This is the most pleasant month to spend at this famous watering place, when they have no dust and the weather is so cool that fires are acceptable every morning and as for fresh butter and milk the world can't beat New Holland.

—"Where do all the sewing machines go to?" is a question often asked We ask ourselves the question, and wonder when we see load after load go away from the Singer office in this city, as we daily do. We learn from Mr. Leonard that his sales of machines for the first six months of this year, ending July 30th, more than doubled the number sold during the corresponding period of last year, and that the demand is daily increasing. His shipments run from 25 to 30 machines daily; sales from 50 to 90 weekly, and at the present time the demand is so great as to necessitate the running of the adjusting room till ten and eleven o'clock every night to prepare machines for shipment. This certainly speaks well for the Singer machine and Mr. Leonard's business enterprise and management. Mr. Leonard has been a liberal and at the same time a judicious advertiser, and his success is doubtless attributable in a great measure to his skill and foresight in this direction. He has kept the machine and its merits constantly before the people—everywhere you look you are certain to see something concerning this truly wonderful machine. Truly the Singer is "still triumphant and leaves all rivals behind it." Another thing to which Mr. Leonard owes his success is his steady refusal to employ any man—no matter who he is or what his mental calibre may be—who is addicted to the use of intoxicating drinks or who cannot furnish first class testimonials as to general character and business qualifications. All his employees are ladies and gentlemen and deserving the respect and confidence of the public. We take it for granted that Mr. Leonard reflects the sentiments and policy of the company he represents, and this is only one of the many evidences of its greatness. It is a first class machine and first class men represent it everywhere. Success—more abundant success—to the Singer say we.

John C. Breckinridge's Will.

[From the St. Paul Pioneer Press, Aug. 27.]

The will of John C. Breckinridge was presented for probate yesterday and filed. The usual order was issued for a hearing on the 23d of September. The following is the first part of the will:

I, John C. Breckinridge, of the city of Lexington and state of Kentucky, being of disposing mind, do make this my last will and testament:

First—After the payments of my debts, which are few and small, and the expenses of a moderate funeral, I direct that my wife, Mary C. Breckinridge, shall receive out of the proceeds of my estate $10,000, which is not to be charged as part of her distributable portion of my estate; and in like manner my daughter is to receive $3,000; but this sum is given for convenience as an advancement, and is to be charged as a part of her distributable portion. These sums are to be paid as soon as may be without a sacrifice of property.

Second—I leave to my wife all the household and kitchen furniture, except the furniture in the room of my daughter Frances, which is to be hers absolutely, and neither of them is to be charged in respect of these items.

Third—Those articles, whose value lies chiefly in the associations connected with them, as family pieces, pictures, military relics, and the like, I leave with my wife for distribution between herself and the children, and this I trust entirely to her discretion and affection.

The will distributes the remainder of the property equally between his wife and his children. His wife, James B. Beck, and John R. Viley are appointed executors.

The United States Court.

The United States district court for the northern district of Georgia, commenced its regular fall term yesterday morning at ten o'clock, Hon. John Erskine, district judge, presiding. A panel of special jurors, whose names have already been published in THE CONSTITUTION, were sworn in for the term. The court then commenced the call of the criminal dockets, upon which an unusual amount of business is pending, numbering from 150 to 200 cases. The number of United States prisoners in jail here, including a batch of some 15 or 20 which arrived yesterday from the mountains, is about 60, and the court, as is its custom, took up these cases first. The days' session was a very extraordinary one, no less than thirty-five prisoners plead guilty to various offenses against the revenue laws, ranging from "illicit distilling" to "working in an illicit distillery." Most of these men are from the counties of Habersham, Union, Rabun, Dawson, Lumpkin, Towns, and Floyd. We doubt whether a United States court ever before opened its session in any of the southern states with such a large number of pleas of guilt awaiting it.

The names of the parties who plead guilty are: James Erwin, George Cannon, Samuel S. Holcomb, Geo. Gillespie, Joseph Shook, George Barnes, F. W. Whitworth, Harvey King, Henry Ross, Hiram Williams, Stanford Willbanks, John P. Barron, John C. Jones, William Nichols, Lacy Carter, Absalom Nicholson, Lemuel W. Early, Wyly Jones, Joseph Hardy, Thos. Barnes, Alfred Shook, Ephraim Lee, John Ralston, F. L. Whitworth, James D. Austin, David Porter, James Satterfield, Thos. M. Bramlette, George Hester, William Willbanks, William T. Terry, Franklin C. Roddey, Robt. Young, Andrew J. Spurlin.

In passing sentence upon these, his Honor, Judge Erskine, took occasion to remark that he would impose light sentences in consideration of the fact that they had come forward and plead guilty at the beginning of the term, without putting the government to the expense of bringing witnesses here from a long distance to testify against them. The Judge, however, stated further that their cases would be no precedent, in cases where prisoners went to trial, and were found guilty by the jury.

He then sentenced all of the above prisoners, except four, to be confined in the common jail of Fulton county for the space of two months, and to pay fines of $100 and costs around. The four exceptions are Alfred Shook, Joseph Shook, Ephraim Lee and Samuel Roddy. In view of the ages of these defendants, and certain mitigating circumstances in their cases, they were sentenced to one month's imprisonment and fines of $100 and costs.

No further business was transacted, but after the delivery of the above sentences the district court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, when the criminal business will be resumed.

These sentences are much milder than any heretofore inflicted upon distillers by this court. The reason is that until the 8th of February last the judge was compelled to sentence this class of offenders to from six months to two years imprisonment, and fines from $100 to $5,000. All insolvent prisoners, however are required to remain in jail one month longer, in default of their costs.

THE CITY COURT.

This court met yesterday at 9 A. M., Hon. R. J. Cowart judge presiding. The following cases were disposed of:

The State vs. Abe Harris—Larceny from the house; plead guilty—sentence, $25 and costs, or six months in chain gang.

The State vs. Abe Harris—Larceny from the house; plead guilty—sentence, $25 and costs or six months.

The State vs. Henry Dabney—Carrying concealed weapons; plea guilty—sentence $25 and cost or six months.

The State vs. Andrew James—Larceny from the house—verdict not guilty allowed by state.

The State vs. Jesse Taylor—Larceny from the house; plea guilty—sentence, $25 and cost or six months.

The State vs. Columbus Evans—Larceny from the house, plea guilty; sentence—$25 and cost or six months.

The State vs James Jenkins—simple larceny; plea guilty—sentence $25 and cost or six months.

Upon the conclusion of the above business the city court adjourned until its usual hour this morning.

THE COURT OF ORDINARY.

The regular monthly session of court of ordinary for probate purposes was held yesterday. The following petitions were granted.

Of Frank K. Larabee for letters of administration on estate of Stephen T. Dann, deceased.

Of Michael Haverty for letters of guardianship of his children, Thomas and Martin Haverty, minors.

Of P. W. Alexander for the guardianship of the person of Mary E. Shorter, minor.

Of Frank Quarles and John Carter for probate of the will of Chaney Kicklighter, deceased, in common form.

Of Robert M. Clark executor on the estate of James Loyd, deceased, for letters of dismission.

Of C. C. Hammock, administrator, &c., on estate of Z. B. Oakes, deceased, for order relieving him from forfeiture of commissions.

The court then adjourned over to its next monthly term.

THE MAGISTRATES.

Byron Rogers, a festive mulatto, was arraigned before Justice Butt yesterday for laying hands on a hat that didn't happen to belong to him. He admitted the theft while in court, and now his friends go to see him at Fulton county Jail.

Ishmael Kurt and Lizzie Smith were made one yesterday by Justice Butt according to the latest style. They preferred matrimony to the chain gang.

THE WATER WORKS.

Preliminary Test of the Engine on Wednesday.

The domestic pressure of about eighty pounds to the square inch was kept upon our water works piping during the whole of yesterday. The excellent condition of the pipes is attested by the fact that not a single break or leak developed itself in the entire line. Until Saturday the pressure test will be repeated on alternate days.

THE ENGINE TEST.

On Wednesday one of the tests of the Holley engine will be made by Mr. Scowden. The object is to try the smoothness and regularity of its running against great pressure. As set down in the contract, this test is, "That the said machinery shall be capable of pumping easily and washing smoothly against a pressure equal to an elevation of 454 feet above the works."

The manner of making the test will be as follows:

A water gauge will be placed on the pumping main at the pump works and another at 300 feet from the pumps; static and dynamic pressures will be obtained previous to the trial. The engines will be started, and water forced through the main lines and distribution pipes in the city, discharging the water at the rate of 2,000,000 gallons in 24 hours through the fire plugs in the city. A pressure will be preserved at the pumping works equivalent to 454 feet head, or 196.5 lbs. pressure per square inch. The coal will be accurately weighed and recorded as it is used, and the ashes remaining will also weighed, in order to ascertain the combustible value of the fuel. The feed water supplied to the boilers will also be measured, and the evaporative quality and the boilers and the fuel ascertained.

The First Bale of Cotton.

The first bale of new cotton in Nashville, Tennessee, after much spirited bidding, was sold at 43 cents per pound, the second at 50 cents per pound. Atlanta did not bite at her new cotton in that style.

A TO ALGEBRA.

Opening Day of the Public Schools.

Over $2,000 Spent for Books, Slates, Ink and Incidentals.

Yesterday was a day the approach of which has lately caused many an Atlanta boy and girl to heave very pronounced sighs—not anxiously expectant and impatient sighs, but dolorous and despondent sighs. Not that a majority did so demean themselves. The spectacle of yesterday showed the sighing class to be in a rather encouraging minority. For, at an early hour we began to encounter gathering in groups, and, with cheeks blooming with roses gathered in vacation hours, and eyes brightened by the glowing pleasures they were just abandoning, briskly hurrying to the schoolhouse and to the associations which so pleasingly invited a hearty renewal of interest and affection. And there were hundreds upon hundreds of them, from the little one fairly tottering under the lilliputian burden of a paper-covered primer to the maiden hugging an armful of "ophics," "ologies," and "onomies." And a fellow could just generally slosh around and feel happy in looking at them without being an active participant in their smiles and joys.

THERE WERE THE BOYS, TOO,

in single file, in squads, in platoons, and in full companies, trooping to school with arms full of books and pockets full of marbles, peg tops, etc. All of them, from the barefoot scion of the cobbler to the broadclothed son of the broken broker, were full of the enthusiasm of the occasion, and the day gave promise of a brilliant scholastic year. We must not omit to note that refreshed and invigorated by their season of rest, were in place with exemplary promptness, and greeted the "young ideas" to whom they were to give training in intellectual archery, with smiles, pleasant greetings and encouraging words.

THE SCHOOLS

were early besieged with the scholars seeking admission. Superintendent Mallon expected to receive full reports from all the schools yesterday afternoon, but from some misunderstanding they were not all forthcoming. It is thought, nevertheless, that the weekly reports will be of a most satisfactory character, possibly showing an increased attendance over any previous year. This, if it proves the case, will be a very strong argument in favor of the increasing usefulness and prosperity of the system.

THE GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL

opened with a very fine attendance and a body of pupils displaying unusual ambition and studious habits. The classes number in the aggregate one hundred and seventy-five pupils, of which number sixty are new entries from the grammar and private schools. These latter form a very promising class and its progress during the year will be marked. In the BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL.

There were entered a total number of ninety pupils, of which 48, or over one-half are new comers in the halls. The classes, as organized, are as promising as at the opening of any previous term.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

are very full, indeed, and it is evident that there will be daily additions to the numbers for some weeks to come. At the opening yesterday, there were upwards of three thousand children in attendance, of which there were three hundred and odd in the white schools who had not been previously enrolled, and 175 such in the colored schools. Ivy street school is reported over-full.

THE SALES OF BOOKS

and other school articles from stores during the day were very large, amounting to over $3,000, of which Phillips & Crew sold about $1,200, J. J. & S. B. Richards about $700, and M. Lynch & Co., about $300, while Burke, Hancock & Co., (whom we failed to see,) were doubtless not far behind the heaviest amount named in the above figures, as they have full stocks and had a store full of customers all the evening. These figures are for new books, etc., and no mention is made of the necessarily large sum paid among scholars for second-hand books.

THE COMP.

Present Status of the Rolling Mill Matters.

The Agreement Between the General Creditors and the Corporation.

We gave in Sunday's issue a general outline of the positions of the parties to the rolling mill troubles, omitting details, by request, until matters took a definite shape, when we were promised all needful information. When the agreement was reached, however, we failed to receive the intimation that our restrictions were at an end.

THE BONDHOLDERS,

submitted a proposition which was practically an agreement to be entered into between themselves and the general creditors. It must be remembered that these bondholders are the owners of $100,000 worth of Rolling Mill bonds, issued under authority of an act of the general assembly of this state. Under the terms of the issue twenty of these $1,000 bonds fell due on the 1st day of December, 1874, and this amount, with the unpaid interest to date upon the whole issue, constitutes the entire present claim of the bondholders against the Rolling Mill corporation. Of these bonds sixty-two are held by W. F. Herring, of Augusta, Ga., both in his own right and as agent for others, while the remainder are held by John H. James. Alfred Austell, Edward Holland and E. F. Peck. The bonds are secured by a first mortgage upon the real and personal property of the Rolling Mill corporation. The payment, however, of the bonds held by Holland and Peck is postponed until the others are fully paid, both as to principal and interest.

THEIR PROPOSITION

was to postpone their right to foreclose their mortgage and bring the property to sale, (so far as Herring's interest is concerned,) on condition that they are paid from the products of said Rolling Mill, or otherwise, by the 1st day of September, 1876, one-tenth of their bonds and all accrued interest up to that time, and ten per cent. of the remaining bonds, with all accrued interest annually up to and including the 1st day of September, 1885. On their part the general creditors were to agree never in any way to litigate the legality of the issue, the sale, price paid, the interest, or in any way seek to postpone, litigate or interfere with the payment of said bonds, principal and interest. Also, the general creditors were to agree, should the first terms above fail to be complied with, to relinquish their claims to said rolling mill and turn over to the bondholders aforesaid the possession of the mill and property, even before the foreclosure; shall keep the mill insured for the benefit of the bond holders; also, may elect to have the mortgage foreclosed and the mill sold, if any portion of them (the said general creditors) refuse to agree and be bound by this contract. This proposition was rejected by the general creditors, who turned to the matter of settling their matters with the corporation, without regard to the bond holders was submitted, having been carefully and skillfully drawn up by Judge O. A. Lochrane. Its terms were briefly, as follows:

THE NEXT PROPOSITION

"The Scofield Rolling Mill Co., by its president, Lewis Scofield, hereby agrees with the creditors of said corporation, as follows:

1. To pay the first mortgage creditors in ten annual installments, the first payment to include coupons due, and to commence Sept. 1, 1876.

2. The bondholders agree to extend the payment of their indebtedness as above.

3 Similar agreement as in above two articles with second mortgage creditors.

4. Pay the general creditors fifty per cent of their claims in ten annual equal payments, with seven per cent interest, the creditors agreeing to the extension.

5. To issue, to the general creditors, at once, stocks to an amount equal in shares, to their respective claims, and payments to commence Sept. 1, 1876.

6. To keep the property insured for $50,000, for the benefit of the first mortgage creditors, and to pay all taxes upon the property.

7. The creditors agree to waive all defences against a foreclosure by the first mortgage bondholders, upon the failure of the corporation to pay the installments when they become due.

8. The first mortgage creditors agree to protect the property, as far as possible, from suits pending, etc.

9. The corporation agrees to pay off laborers' liens in thirty days out of first earnings.

10. Peck and Holland agree to postpone their claims in accordance with the spirit of this contract.

11. The corporation to be re-organized and the stockholders under this agreement to stand in the same place as original stockholders as to vote and voice.

12. Should the corporation, at any time during the ten years, fail to pay the amounts due creditors and the property be forfeited, then, if the general creditors, within 60 days thereafter, pay the same to the first and second mortgage creditors, it is agreed that they shall have all the rights of the corporation and the whole property shall belong to them.

These propositions, so far as they applied to the bondholders, were rejected by them and their agents.

THE FINAL EFFORT

was made then, between the general creditors and the corporation, upon the basis of the above proposition, and proved successful. Under the agreement finally entered into, all matters relating to the bondholders are left for after consideration. The creditors receive annual payments to the extent of fifty per cent. of their claims in ten annual payments, and the balance in stock to be at once issued. Creditors having Scofield's endorsement get 10 per cent. additional stock. Thus the company will be reformed and will at once proceed to organize. It is presumed that Mr. Scofield will be the manager of the mill and that the addition of strength, etc, to the corporation, by taking in the creditors, will be an immense advantage to it. Mr. Goodnow, until the present movement is consummated, unless some unforeseen legal move is made, which is not probable. As the relation of the bondholders claims to those of the general creditors is that of about $20,000 to $160,000, it is probable that the new corporation may find it advisable to stop these small agitators in their movements by paying their claims now due in full. Thus ends the matter for the present.

THE RECEIVER, REMAINS

Weighed in Both Pairs.

Two or three china-eyed negroes were sitting on the platform of the Air-Line depot yesterday noon, eating their dinner. One of them said:

"Do you see dat 'ong-legged nigger goin' long long yonder wid dem standin' collar and stove pipe hat on?"

They all looked and saw him.

"Well, sah," said the speaker, "I wuz down to a meetin de oder night whar he wuz and I jis tell you he's a boss—he kin jis talk mo' po iticks to de squar' inch dan any niggah in dis city, he kin!"

"Yas," said an old darkey as he rubbed his shoes with a meat rind, "an' you jis gib him a hoe and turn him loose in a patch, and I bet my gallusses dat he chop ebery darn toe off him feet 'fore he git haf through de fust row ob cotton!"

"I go yer ha'ves on de bet, too!" said another, but the admirer of the politician didn't want to gamble on his man just then.

MISSISSIPPI.

The War of the Radical Factions.

A Negro Calls His White Brother a Liar—Result: Two Dead Rads and Several Wounded.

[Memphis Appeal, September 4.]

Reports of a bloody and fatal riot among negro politicians at Yazoo City reached here last night. Thursday the radicals of Yazoo county had a public speaking at Yazoo City, where a large number of negroes assembled to hear what was said, and engage in the powwow. One of the speakers, a notorious white radical named Morgan, in the course of his remarks, alluded to the present state of taxes in Mississippi. He stated that the democrats charged that the high taxation had been caused by the republican administration in that state. He denied that such was the case, and asserted that the present rate of taxation was no higher than when the state was under democratic rule, which he denounced in bitter terms.

At this juncture a negro, who was doubtless under the influence of whisky, called Morgan a "liar." Thereupon Morgan took personal notice of the remark, and made use of rough language which induced the negro to shout out: "You are a damned liar." By this time the crowd had become very much excited, and a negro radical fired a pistol at the negro who called Morgan "a damned liar." A general exchange of shots then took place, and the meeting broke up in a big row. A notorious white radical, whose name we have been unable to ascertain, and a negro were killed during the fight, which also resulted in the wounding of several other persons who were present. This, in substance, is the report of the row which reached us last night, but so far we have not learned any particulars except those above given, and the fact that the disturbance was at a radical meeting. No persons except white radicals and negroes were present at the meeting, or engaged in the row which resulted in the killing of two and the wounding of several men. Morgan, the speaker, whose angry words and incendiary language actuated the negroes to the disturbance and fatal row, is a white man of infamous notoriety, and has for a long while been the willing tool of Ames and his radical party in Mississippi. It will be remembered that Morgan is the radical senator from the Yazoo district, who married, and now has as his wife, a mulatto woman, named Highgate. Such a man seems a proper character in the political role he assumes and enacts with such disreputable fidelity, for he has long been one of the many persons to take the servile part of a lowly instrument in the hands of his party. Surely Mississippi radicals are rivaling the Winnebagoes and imitating Illinois in kukluxism of the most lawless and hideous nature.

Foreign Crops.

LONDON, September 6.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the corn trade, says that the bulk of the harvest has been generally gathered, in good order. Another ten days of propitious weather will complete the work. The new samples of wheat show a great variety in quality—much very inferior and some very poor. The crop is short as a whole, and large importations will be necessary.

Prices generally have only been firm in Paris and in the home market, while in the provincial markets of France they have further declined one shilling and quarter, and in some places two shillings.

In Germany, harvesting has gone on well. Prices were generally lower, although for future delivery most are above present rates.

In Belgium, prices have varied, but mostly downward. In Holland, the movement has been decidedly downward. At St. Petersburg, prices are lower. The harvest in the neighborhood of Dantsig has been completing under the most favorable circumstances. The new product is of nice quality and good weight, although the total yield is below that of the preceding year.

OFFICE DR. S. B COLLINS' PAINLESS OPIUM ANTIDOTE, La Porte, Indiana, August 10, 1875.

To Opium Eaters.

MR. B M WOOLLEY, formerly my agent at Atlanta, Ga., having seen fit to advertise that the patients of Dr. S. B. Collins would learn something to their interest by applying to him, I deem it but an act of justice to all parties concerned, to state that Mr. W. was removed for the best of reason, e.i. the refusing to account to me as specified in contract, and the applying to his own uses money that justly belonged to me.

Persons designing to apply to him for the Antidote, (so called,) which he claims to represent, would do well to read the stories of Jas. Sullivan and Louis J. Vaughn; and could be informed respecting the honesty and ability of the said Woolley, by addressing me.

It is to be hoped that but few will be defrauded as I have been in my business transactions with Mr. Woolley.

ANGELUS.

BY SUSAN COOLIDGE.

Softly drops the crimson sun;
Softly down from overhead,
Drop the bell-notes one by one,
Melting in the melting red,
Call to angel ears unsleeping.
"Day is done; the night is dread;
Take the world in care and keeping.

"Set the white robed sentries close,
Wrap our want and weariness
In the surety of repose;
Let the shining Presences,
Bearing fragrance on their wings,
Stand about our beds' o bless,
Fright away all evil things.

"Rays of Him whose shadow pours
Through dark lives a brimming glory,
Float o'er lonesome woods and rooms!
Float above the billows hoary!
Shine through night and storm and sin,
Tangled fate and bitter story,
Guide the lost and wandering in."

Now the last red ray is gone,
Now the twilight shadows hie;
Still the bell-notes, one by one,
Drop and spread and seek the sky,
Praying, as with human lip:
"Angels, hearken! Night is nigh!
Take us to thy guardianship."

Summary of State News.

MADISON.

—Madison received last year 10,125 bales of cotton.

—The negroes around Brooks chapel have secret meetings every night, and have the church guarded.

—Two young men of this city courted a fair one worth $50,000, and since she married last week have become fast friends. One has made out a bill for $7 against her, and the other sues for breach of promise, laying damages at $3,000.—Home Journal.

BRUNSWICK.

—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars' worth of goods, for interior towns, passed through here during the past week.

—Naval store business largely developing.

—Exports from Brunswick during July, $41,289.

—A. J. Smith and R. K. Hines have been retained to represent Brunswick in adjusting the bonded indebtedness of the city.

—A turpentine distillery to be opened here.—Appeal.

DAHLONEGA.

—Five negroes are in Morganton jail charged with cutting another negro's throat.

—The cattle distemper is raging.—Signal.

AUGUSTA.

—It is rumored that the employees of the Georgia railroad will be put on full time soon.

—Augusta shipped 5,103 cantaloupes and 71,346 melons.

—Twenty-one babies made their advent into life in Augusta, in August, and by January she expects to reach that 20,000.

—A Broad street firm yesterday received an order for dress goods from a lady in Niles, Michigan.—Constitutionalist.

COLUMBUS.

—The afternoon train between here and Macon is quite a fast one. The time between the two points is five hours and twenty-five minutes, distance 100 miles, with about a dozen or fifteen stoppages. The average running time is about twenty-five miles an hour.

—Old farmers say that the first killing frost comes sixty days after the first heavy dew in August. That proving true, this year frost will come on the 10th of October. --Enquirer.

—A countryman placed $2,700 in bank.

—A Columbus dry goods house sold $2,000 worth of goods in one day.—Times

SAVANNAH.

—Chicken cholera has broken out in the southern part of the city, and one man lost thirty-two head the other day.

—E. J. Johnston elected alderman for the third ward. 170 votes polled.

—Capt. J. C. Wheeler has been appointed city and county surveyor, vice W. B. Bonnell resigned.

—A Bibb county farmer, who resides in Macon, has sold 200 bushels of old corn since the first of August at $1.25 a bushel, and he has more of the same sort, with a good crop of new already made and more making.—(Telegraph.

RINGGOLD.

—Igou, Hittle & Harris threshed 7,000 bushels of wheat this season.

—The new bell for the Baptist church has arrived and proves to be of excellent tone. It weighs 201 pounds and cost $74.

—Captain Whitsitt, for the M. E. church building committee, last week, ordered a supply of the celebrated Catoosa lime to be used for plastering the new church, from Messrs C. W. Gray & Co, of Graysville. In due time the lime arrived, accompanied by a receipted bill, with instructions from Mr. C. W. Gray to present the lime to the church as a donation.

—Mr. Sam Igou, while engaged in blasting rock on his farm, a few days ago, found secreted in cavities in the solid limestone, quantities of oil; frequently as much as a tablespoonful in a single cavity. The oil has the odor and metalic appearance of coal oil and burns freely.

—It is estimated that the corn crop of Catoosa county will yield an average of twenty-five bushels per acre. The return of the tax receiver shows over 10,000 acres planted in corn, and according to this estimate, which we do not think extravagant, the county will produce 250,000 bushels, giving a surplus of at least 150,000 bushels. BREVITIES.

—The Philadelphia papers now call it "The Centennium."

—Moody and Sankey have definitely decided to renew their partnership in Washington in October.

—Turkish tailors are never reproached for misfits. They have only to cut out two bags, hitch them together, and the customer has a first-class pair of pants.

—Miss Adelaide Neilson is in Germany seeking relief at the spas. It is not probable that her health will be sufficiently restored to permit her to visit America even during the next season.

—A Cincinnati merchant has a pair of shoes made in 1776, during the times that tried men's soles, and purposes to exhibit them at the centennial.

—What people should know—that if they spoil a stamped envelope when addressing it they can get the value in stamps by presenting it at the post office.

—The three wonders of the world at present are—how fluff accumulates in vest pockets, where the pins go to, and why when a man comes out of a saloon he looks one way and goes the other.

—Champagne is now made from gooseberries, coal-oil and rhubarb juice, sweetened and fortified with potato spirit. One of the wines that took a medal at Vienna was a thin white wine, strengthened with brandy and aerated.

—Mr. James Lick, although afflicted with a paralytic stroke, refuses medical attendance because he does not "believe in doctors." The suit for $55,000 which one of them brought against him for unpaid services, a few weeks ago, possibly prompts him to feel as he does.

—The story is told of Ralph Waldo Emerson, that when he was abroad he went to see the sphynx. He and the sphinx looked at each other a long time in silence, and then the sphinx said, "You're another," and that ended the interview.

—The late Edwin Forrest had a great fondness for dogs. Above the landing of the main staircase of his residence in Philadelphia was the painting of the "Dog of Montargis," which he habitually characterized to his visitors as a portrait of the best friend he ever had in the world.

—The discovery of a Chicago woman is how to eat a peach at the table gracefully. Cut the peach open in the middle and remove the pit. Hold on one of the halves in the left hand, and use a spoon to scoop out the pulp and carry it to the mouth. Thus the fingers are not soiled, and the bother of feeling is avoided. No patent upon this device has been obtained.

—The mistress of a summer boarding house in an interior town, finding herself one day quite at leisure in consequence of the absence of her patrons on an excursion, repaired to a neighbor's for a chat. "I should think you would feel lonesome to have your boarders away so," said her neighbor. "Well," said she, "I do feel kinder lonesome; but its a good lonesome. It seems just as it did when I was fust a widder."

—Frank Blake, an actor, read the following at his benefit performance in Portland Me.:

Dear public, you and I, of late,
Have dealt so much in fun,
I'll crack you now a mons rous great
Quadruplicated pun!

Like a grate full of coals I'll glow,
A great full house to see;
And if I am not grateful too,
A great fool I must be!

And all that to an audience that yielded him only twenty-three dollars.

—In 1858 five clergymen died, graduates of Dartmouth, whose average age was 99 years, 8 months and 16 days. Laban Ainsworth, 100 years, 7 months, 28 days; Zachariah Green, 98 years, 8 months, 10 days; Ethan Osborn, 99 years, 8 months, 10 days; Lincoln Ripley 96 years, 8 months, 27 days. This record is believed to be without parallel among our literary institutions. Laban Ainsworth was minister to one congregation, at Jaffrey, N. H , for three quarters of a century.

—Good things are in store for travellers between New York and Philadelphia at an early day, according to the correspondent of one of the Boston newspapers writing from the latter city. He says that the new Metropolitan rail way line connecting the two cities will be in complete trim and open for travel by the 1st of December next. This road will be sixteen miles shorter than the present route between the two places, and its time will be from thirty to forty minutes less. It will make connection with the southern routes by way of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore line, and with the West by way of the Baltimore and Ohio.

—At the London dog show this year, the Rev. J. W. Mellar's champion mastiff, Turk, a dog a little over seven years old, that has won more than thirty prizes and cups, was valued by his owner at $25,000 and Mr. A. S. D. Fiva's Granby, an animal almost as big as a lion, at $50,000. Four other mastiffs were valued at $5,000 each, several St. Bernards were rated at from $5,000 to $10,000, a Newfoundland was marked $5,000, the famous greyhounds, St Patrick and Warwick, were considered to be worth $25,000 each. several setters were appraised at $5,000 apiece, and one at $50,000, one Irish water spaniel was held at $5,000, and six retrievers at the same price, while a Dalmatian, belonging to Mr. R. J. L. Price, known as Crib, nine years old, was valued at £10,000 sterling. Of course most of these valuations were exaggerated methods of stating that the dogs were not for sale at any price.

A Private Counselor to the Married, or those about to marry, on the physiological mysteries and revelations of the sexual system, with the latest discoveries in the science of reproduction, preserving the complexion, &c.

This is an interesting work of two hundred and sixty pages, with numerous engravings, and contains valuable information for those who are married or contemplate marriage; still it is a book that ought to be kept under lock and key, and not left carelessly about the house.

It embraces everything on the subject of the generative system that is worth knowing, and much that is not published in any other work.
